Di Di Hollywood tells the tale of an actress whose wish for stardom comes at a heavy price. Her name is Diana Diaz, a young woman with a wild yet familiar dream: to become a star. And to win it all, she is willing to lose herself. Tired of working nights as a bartender, Diana finally decides to leave her homeland, her best friend Maria, and all of the bad memories Spain holds for her. She heads out for the bright lights of Miami, and despite its glamorous first impression, this new paradise proves anything but. Fed up with casting calls, hunger, and near-poverty, Diana continues to push forward, and with the help of new friends, makes it out to Hollywood. As Diana Diaz transforms into Di Di, the once ambitious bartender truly learns the price of stardom.

Sólo Mía (Only Mine)– Spain

Monday, August 8th (18:30 h)
INSTITUTO CERVANTES - AUDITORIO
211-215 East 49th Street
10017 Nueva York
(ESTADOS UNIDOS)

Director: Javier Balaguer

Screenwriter: Javier Balaguer, Álvaro García Mohedano

Cast: Sergi López, Paz Vega, Elvira Mínguez

Catalan actor Sergi López is almost as well known in France as in his native Spain. In Balaguer's debut film, he plays another of his signature villain roles: a husband whose uncontrollable jealousy and violent behavior push his lovely wife (Paz Vega) to the edge of sanity.
